Sandra Fellici , from Italy , reflects on traditi	ional good manners	for varied	situations and disci	usses
how fast manners are changing . She says :
"I'm filled with childhood memories. When I was a grandmother in the world, lived with my family used to help him . That's why I had to stay all of	.At the time, my fa	ther had a b	ousiness, and my mo	other oyal to me. (§1) Unfortunately, in our society today, what we	•	, or good	etiquette, are chang	ing .
New generations are becoming more and more in			a tham and habaya	:
When I was a child, I used to go out with my educated way; but some kids nowadays make a cowards adults. (§3)	•	•
In my language, we have two different ways	of addressing peopl	e . One is	the intimate second	form hat is generally used with family members, frien	nds and people of th	e same age	; one is more forma	ıl , ir which the third person is used to address people	. I would use the fo	rmal way	when I addressed ele	derly people or people I didn't know, but young	generations are nov	w using th	e intimate second	form everywhere and with everybody . (§4)
I think that this behaviour is due to globalization	on and to the use of	the Englis	h language that has	only
